

Maplecroft releases regional and sector bundles of the Global Risks Index

For more information: info@maplecroft.com

The Global Risks Index (GRI), which analyses 26 different risk indices for 163 countries, is now available in regional bundles for companies whose supply chains and operations are located in specific locations.

The new bundles include:

Region	Countries
Africa	57
Americas	23
Oceania	19
Asia	27
Middle East North Africa & Central Asia	33
Emerging economies (N11 & BRICs)	17
OECD	29

Maplecroft has also created a GRI bundle for the 12 oil producing countries of OPEC.

The GRI provides comparable risk analysis for each country across seven aggregate clusters. These include: macroeconomic risk; security risk; governance risk; resource security; climate change; pandemics and infectious diseases and societal resilience.

Maplecroft designed the Global Risks Index to enable organisations to:

- Identify specific areas of high risk across supply chains and operations
- Manage and mitigate risk effectively
- Improve business performance
- Enhance strategic investment and corporate social responsibility planning

The GRI is presented on-line, in country by country scorecards and maps. Each country scorecard provides a summary of key demographic, economic and political information, a global and regional map, as well as scores for each of the 26 indices and the seven aggregate clusters.

More substantive country details are available through Maplecroft's country briefings 8+pp or reports 25+pp.

To view samples and costings of the GRI bundles and other Maplecroft products please log in or register at www.global-risks.com

Further information

Maplecroft is the leading source of global risks intelligence. We analyse, index and map over 100 global risks to help companies identify areas of high risk and navigate the complex challenges encompassed by climate change, pandemics, resource security, terrorism and human rights.

For more information contact: Jason McGeown
Communications Manager

Tel: +44 (0)1225 420000

Email: jason.mcgeown@maplecroft.com

Web: www.maplecroft.com